Bertha Parker Pallan Cody was known for being one of the first female Native American archaeologists, for promoting knowledge of Native American history and culture, and for serving as a technical advisor on several films.